

CHARM OFFENSIVE

SHOULD THE WORLD BUY WHAT THE CROWN PRINCE IS SELLING?

by KARL VICK

UNIVERSITY JOHN B. LAC... MOL... 700...
WA 98000...
9 771064 030005 13

2 | Conversation
4 | For the Record

The Brief

News from the U.S.
and around the world

5 | The EPA takes on clean-car rules

7 | Bracing for more clashes along Gaza's border

9 | Remembering
Winnie Madikizela-Mandela

10 | Red-state
teachers revolt

12 | TIME with ...
outspoken
Congressman
Matt Gaetz

14 | A magical Easter
for Notre Dame

The View

Ideas, opinion, innovations

17 | Ian Bremmer:
What China's new tariffs mean for the U.S.

19 | Bill Gates on
the importance of Factfulness

20 | Why "Latinx"
is taking hold

22 | Elise Jordan:
I'm a libertarian,
and it's time for gun control

Features

▣ The Crown Prince
Makes His Pitch

Mohammed bin Salman, the rising young leader of Saudi Arabia, is working overtime to change the world's perception of his feudal kingdom
By Karl Vick 24

Dream High

Inside the life of one of the 700,000 young immigrants in the U.S. with DACA status
By Charlotte Alter 32

Economic Cycles

China's bike-sharing phenomenon is rolling into cities across the globe.
Now the companies behind it want to reshape society
By Charlie Campbell 38

Time Off

What to watch, read,
see and do

45 | In Killing Eve,
Sandra Oh follows
the scent of a killer

48 | Husband-
and-wife team
John Krasinski
and Emily Blunt's
A Quiet Place

50 | Meg Wolitzer's
new novel
on feminism

51 | R&B triple
threat Tinashe

52 | 11 Questions for Oscar winner and former politician
Glenda Jackson

Corina Barranco
walks home
from high school
in Lorain, Ohio,
on Feb. 22

Photograph by Maddie McGarvey
for TIME

ON THE COVER: Photograph by Martin Schoeller
for TIME