

John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University-Molo

M.H Del Pilar Street, Molo

Iloilo City

The Bullying Experiences Leading to Suicidal Tendency among the Grade-11 ABM Students of JBLFMU-Molo

A Research Paper Presented to Dr.Elvira Delgado

In Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements

In Practical Research I

Alvarez, Rodelyn P.

Alerta, Leelin Vi P.

11-Markab

December 2018

ABSTRACT

This study aims to know the experiences of grade 11 ABM Student of John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University (JBLFMU-Molo) in bullying and their suicidal tendencies. In this study the researchers aim to let people know how bullying experiences can affect a student's focus to study and how they can develop into suicidal tendencies. This research can serve as a guide to people on how they respond to bullying and how to handle it. This research study only determine bullying leading to suicidal tendencies in John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University(JBLFMU-Molo).

This study evaluate only to grade 11 ABM student of John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University(JBLFMU-Molo). The research employ using questionnaires. The researchers evaluated 180 grade 11 ABM students that have 4 sections; we took only 10 students per section to take the survey. Based on our questionnaire the data has been collected according to the age, gender, grade and section of the respondents.

Based on the finding derived from this study, the results showed that bullying experiences have a few chance that can lead to suicidal tendencies and age ranges 18 years old are more prone to suicidal tendencies among the senior high school student of ABM track in John B. Lacson Foundation Maritime University(JBLFMU-Molo).

Acknowledgement

We would like to express our deepest gratitude to all persons who held their hands in making this research project possible.

We are grateful to Dr. Elvira Delgado our Practical Research teacher for the constant guidance and for the motivation in doing our research project. Thank you for the patience and understanding. We are grateful that you've shared your knowledge and expertise in fulfilling our needs.

To the respondents thank you for the active participation and cooperation. Without you we will not make this research study successful.

To our parents for giving us unconditional love and care in times of our stressful days by comforting and motivating us this won't be successful without the help of people around us. We value your time and effort in making this research project and most of all, to the Almighty God thank you for giving us strength and grace for our everyday life.

Table of Contents

Chapter

I Introduction of the Study

Background Information

Significance of the Study

Statement of the Problem

Scope and Delimitation

Definition of Terms

II Review of Related Literature

III Methodology

IV Results and Discussion

V Summary, Conclusion and Recommendation

Summary of Findings

Conclusions

Recommendations

References